Does the absolute value of 0 exist?

No, the absolute value of zero is zero. For real numbers, the law of trichotomy states that every real number is either positive, negative, or zero. |0|=0. The word "positive" is ambiguous: it can mean "≥0" or ">0".

What if absolute value is negative?

Since the absolute value of any number other than zero is positive, it is not permissible to set an absolute value expression equal to a negative number. So, if your absolute value expression is set equal to a negative number, then you will have no solution.
